Azerbaijani Parasite-Horror Feature OBITUS Unveils Official Teaser

Recfilms has released the official teaser for OBITUS, an upcoming Azerbaijani survival / parasite-horror feature directed by Revan Jabbarov. The 105-minute film is in the Turkish language and is scheduled for theatrical release in Azerbaijan on 19 November 2026.

Set around an isolated community struck by a natural disaster, OBITUS follows survivors whose attempt to escape one catastrophe leads them toward a spreading parasitic threat. The film combines survival horror, body horror and an outbreak narrative, with a focus on isolation, family and the physical cost of survival.

OBITUS was presented at the Cannes Marche du Film in 2026. The production is currently in final post-production. A full private screener is not being circulated at this stage; accredited press and industry contacts are invited to use the official teaser and press materials available in the public press-kit folder.
